SAFE, SANE FOURTH ONLY THREE SALES ON LOCAL CHANGE

Dull Day Marks Last Saturday Session Until Next October. Gas Bonds Raised.

With a scant half-dozen brokers in attendance, the activity at the last Saturday session of the Washington Stock Exchange until October was confined to three sales.

Despite the inactivity, figures advanced fractionally. The bids on Washington Gas 5 per cent bonds, Nevell S. Greenaway, clerk of the court, will leave tonight for California. ed from one-eighth to one-quarter of a point.

While the best bid made for quotation lots of Washington Gas stock on the regular call was 73½, the demand for the stock after call led brokers to advance their bids to 74 for quotations and 74½ for odd lots. There was none of the stock to be had, however, at those figures, notwithstanding that it had been offered at 74 on call.

Higgs Bank stock, which has been very inactive for some time, and on which there have been no quotations, was offered as low as 505. The broker, falling to elicit a bid, withdrew the ten shares which he desired to sell.

The sales of the day consisted of a $500 Capital Traction 5 at 105%; $2.000 worth of Potomac Electric Power Consolidated 5's at 100%; and 25 shares of Capital Traction at 90.

Prepare for Census of Zoo Park "Population'

A new census of the animals in the National Zoological Park will be taken at the end of the fiscal year. No surprising increase in population is expected, except among the smaller ani-mals and birds, which thrive and breed rapidly in the Zoo environment. The total number of animals in the park on June 30 last was 1,362, repre-senting 340 different species. Of mam-mals there were 604, birds 697, and reptiles 61. During the year there were 20 individuals born, or hatched in the park, and to those native born "cit'zens" were added about 230 more through purchase, exchange and gift.

It was just twenty-five years ago, that Congress placed the Zoo Park tract under the direction of the Smithsonian.
